DEPOSED EMPEROR CANNOT LIVE IN SECLUSION

(By Associated Press)
Petrograd, Nov. 17.—Efforts of the family of Nicholas Romanoff, the deposed emperor to live in seclusion in Toroski, Siberia, and the curiosity displayed by the natives toward the former royal family or Russia was demonstrated by a correspondent of the Novo Vremya, writing from the Siberian city to which the Romanoffs were sent and it was because of this curiosity on the part of the people that the former emperor and his family were transferred to the Abolok Monastery, fourteen miles from Tobolsk.

The Romanoffs occupied in Tobolsk the house of the governor which was guarded by soldiers day and night. In the day time the Romanoff children were often seen sunning themselves on the balcony reading books, one in a little white hat and the other with uncovered head "showing" the short hair cut after an attack of typhoid fever. Generally a few curious persons leaned against the railings of the fence surrounding the governor's house, watching what transpired within but not interfering with its inhabitants. A special gate had been constructed leading from the house to the garden but the children seldom used it as they were shy of meeting the public. This garden was small but full of beautiful flowers. Other members of the family occasionally strolled through this little garden. Not long after the royal exiles arrived in Siberia, instructions were received from Petrograd, directing that the municipal garden be placed at the disposal of the family and that a passage be constructed through it to the near by church so that the Romanoffs might attend divine service. The garden was ordered to be closed to the public while the Romanoffs used it. When the former emperor, his wife and children went to the church, recently, a great number of people gathered outside the gates of the governor's house to watch their passage. A guard of soldiers lined the street. The former Empress Alexandra, Alix, was wheeled in a chair to the gate of the garden, dressed in gray and wearing a small black hat. She appeared ill or exhausted. Behind walked Nicholas in military dress, and behind him the former crown prince walking between his two elder sisters. They followed the other two sisters and the former royal suite, all walking with hurried steps and lowered heads trying to avoid the gaze of the public. On reaching the gate, leading to the municipal garden, Alexandria Alix rose and, together with Nicholas hurried across the street and entered the church.

RED TRIANGLE FUND NEARING MARK

Today Left for Big Drive—About $5,000
Now Subscribed—Hope to Reach
$8,000

On the Red Triangle War Fund, the thermometer now stands at about $4500 as a result of reports made to headquarters on Friday morning.

Several large subscriptions have been received, four for $500 each; one for $100; two for $50; thirteen for $25; three for $15; twelve for $10, and a large number ranging from the last figure down. There are doubtless several other large subscriptions represented in the total of $4500 stated above but detailed report from one team of workers has not been received, they being otherwise actively engaged in collecting, so it is not possible at this time to state accurately the number of $500, $100, $50 subscriptions, etc., which have been received.

The navy yard turned in part of their subscriptions last night and are still at work on the matter and they hope to get $30,000.

The teams are making a big hustle to secure at least the quota of $8000 and they hope to get $10,000 but this looks doubtful at present.

Practically all of the districts have been covered at least once and they will all be finished by this evening, leaving Sunday and Monday for the clearing up.

As a windup for the campaign a mass meeting has been called for the Colonial Theatre Sunday evening, at which a musical program has been arranged by local talent. They have all volunteered. In addition there will be several speakers including Col. John H. Bartlett and others who will give ten minute talks. No admission will be charged and a collection will be taken so that anybody who wishes can contribute their mite.

FRANCIS' DISPATCHES MISSING

Washington, Nov. 16—The state department received today from Ambassador Francis at Petrograd a cable under date of the 12th stating there had been street fighting; that control of the cable offices had shifted several times; and that the Bolshevik government had not communicated with him in any way. He informed the department that he had sent cables, but the messages between the 8th and the 12th are still missing.

In the message dated Saturday, Duchannoff said:

"Savinkoff and General Alexieff are with me."

One message received by wireless from Petrograd today, quoted a proclamation signed by General Mouraviev ordering "energetic steps to liberate five officers held prisoners for revolting against the deposed provisional government." Presumably these five were held by the Bolshevik forces.

London, Nov. 16—With Petrograd still out of direct communication and indirect news furnishing the widest contradictions as to which faction was actually in control, London looked today for a compromise article, and later, possibly the formation of a coalition government as likely to result from the Bolshevik revolt.

The latest dispatches seemed to indicate that the Bolsheviks had at least maintained an outlet for news of the battle to them. In the last 24 hours, dispatches have seemed to indicate that the Trotsky-Lenin combination were in partial control although reports of a compromise government with Bolshevik representatives contained in these dispatches led to the deduction that their control was precarious. It was argued that Bolsheviks would hardly be willing to risk compromise in their domination was absolute.

A Copenhagen dispatch today quoted an undated proclamation by Colonel Mouraviev, commanding the Bolshevik troops as declaring:

"Premier Kerensky has circulated false reports that troops in Petrograd voluntarily joined with the late government, and that the revolutionary committee has ordered the soldiers to retreat."

Troops of the late Russian people do not retreat or surrender. They evaded Gatchina in order to avoid unnecessary bloodshed and to take up a better position outside of Petrograd. This position is now so strong that even if Kerensky is reinforced by ten times his present strength, we need not feel unsafe. The best spirit prevails and the city is calm and orderly."

This proclamation contradicts other Bolshevik news of an overwhelming defeat of Kerensky at Gatchina and recapture of the town. It may have been issued prior to the reported recapture.

Stockholm messages via Haparanda declared that the revolutionary committee was taking energetic measures for provisioning Petrograd.

No confirmation has yet been received of reports of casualties running more than 6000, from fighting around Petrograd and Moscow.

DRAFT BOARD MAKES RECORD

The local draft board has established a record for efficiency which has not been exceeded in the state, or for that matter the country, has completed its statistical report which has been forwarded to the war department.

The provost marshal general's office at Washington allowed six days for the report, but the local board, without assistance, completed the work in three days, these records being so well kept that they probably have established a record.

A partial summary of the report follows:

THE TEST.

Democracy's on trial now—
On trial for its life!
To world dictator shall it bow
Or meet him in the strife
With giant force and giant wrath,
To sweep him from its hallowed path?

The fifteenth century's arrayed,
In all its feudal power,
Against the progress that has made
So great the present hour;
Shall pirate and marauder rule,
With freedom as the tyrant's stool?

The savage and the civilized,
In battle to the death
(So must the strife be recognized
With every parting breath)
Will make humanity progress,
Or leave the world a wilderness!

And shall the despot triumph?—No!
Democracy declares,
While it can render blow for blow,
And dare, as freedom dares,
Dispute the way of ruin red
The modern Attila doth tread!

With all resources to the fore
Democracy must stand,
United, firm, on every shore,
To brook the Hun's command
Where torches and where dripping swords
So mark the passage of his hordes.

STRIKERS WILL RETURN TO WORK TODAY

(By Associated Press)

Boston, Nov. 16—Strikers enraged in government war about this section, will return to work tomorrow. The strike was called off at a meeting of the Building Trades council here this evening when it was said that definite assurances had been received that the federal representatives would be here for a conference as to the unfair labor conditions that exist at Ford River and Squantum.

PROMINENT CITIZENS OF YORK PASS AWAY

William G. Varrell and Charles H. Jenkins Had Been Active in Growth of Town

York, this past week lost two prominent and respected citizens by death. Charles Horace Jenkins passed away Monday at his home at York Corner at the age of 72 years. He was a native of York and had passed his entire life there, being engaged in business for fifty years. He has been postmaster for sixteen years. He leaves one son, Samuel H., and a daughter, Mrs. Willis Denmore, and two brothers, Samuel A. and J. Howard.

William Goodwin Varrell died on Tuesday at the York hospital, after an illness of several weeks. He was born in York, March 25, 1846. After his schooling at Bowdoin Academy he followed the sea for a time and later conducted a grocery business at Wells. In 1892 he took over the York Harbor house which he renamed the York-shire Inn and he conducted this business until his death. He leaves besides his widow, two sons, Prof. Harry M. of Simmons college, Boston, and Dr. William W. of York Harbor.

RECEIVED A FLATTERING OFFER

Mr. Philip Yeaton, son of Hon. and Mrs. Harry B. Yeaton of this city, who is at present located in Kansas city with a large engineering firm, will shortly come east to accept a position on the staff of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston.

Mr. Yeaton is a graduate of the M. I. T. and he has been in the west a few years doing active field work in his profession. His call to the staff of this noted technical school is very flattering. Mr. Yeaton will make the third Portsmouth boy now connected with this institute. Prof. O. H. Locke, Prof. Walter James and now it will be Prof. Philip Yeaton.

A Baseless Claim.

In a contribution to a New York newspaper a writer says the prison population of that state is one thousand below the usual number at this time of the year, and attributes this condition to the ease of securing employment at the present time, owing to the rush of business caused by the war and the absence of the men who have entered the army and navy. Assuming this to be the case, the writer goes on to argue that the way to keep men out of prison is to open up opportunities for employment and to place the regulation of hours, wages and working conditions in the hands of the national organizations of the different trades and callings. So far as hours of labor are concerned, he thinks the entire nation should be placed on an eight-hour basis.

But how about the farmers? Does this writer and those who may agree with him deem it feasible to introduce and maintain the eight-hour day on the farm, and would they be willing to pay the increased prices for farm products which would be necessary if this were to be done? It is highly probable that they would not, but if the "entire nation" were to be brought under the eight-hour system how could the farmers be exempted, and why should they be if they could?

Attributing crime to the lack of employment is easy, but the simple fact is that a very small proportion of the crimes committed are due to such a condition. Times and labor conditions vary, but there is seldom a time when the man who really wants work cannot find it. There are times when the cry of unemployment is raised and the conditions are exaggerated beyond all reason, and even at such times it has been found difficult to secure men for certain kinds of work. There are thousands in the cities who would rather stand in bread lines and complain of unemployment than to do an honest day's work, as has been proved by actual experience over and over again.

The fact is that very few men go to prison through their inability to secure employment. Far more go because of their unwillingness to work and their natural predilection to crime. After they find themselves in the toils the lack of employment, "demon rum" and other things are offered in explanation, and there are too many good-hearted but soft-headed people who accept this twaddle without question and proceed to bemoan the fate of the "poor fellows" behind the bars.

It is proper that employment conditions should be made as good as possible and that those needing assistance in obtaining employment should receive it, but the claim that the lack of employment is one of the chief causes of crime in this busy and bustling country is the merest bosh, and no one should be disturbed by such claims. If all who ought to work but refuse to do so were to be placed in jail the prison population would be far larger than it is now.

What is the use of arbitration if both sides to a controversy are not to stand by the results? The Boston and Maine railroad men are dissatisfied with the decision rendered by Arbitrator Endicott of Massachusetts and want the case reopened. They apparently regard the decision of an arbitrator, when this is against them, about as Germany regards treaties.

Some hoarding of merchandise has been unearthed in Boston. The hunt is still going on and it is expected that much more will be brought to light in other places. The law requiring the reporting of such things to the government should not be permitted to become a dead letter right at the start.

Some of the American soldiers in France are becoming familiar with German methods of warfare, including the use of gas, and are standing up nobly under the ordeal. And one of these days the Germans will be more familiar than they are now with the American methods of warfare.

China makes formal protest against the recent agreement between the United States and Japan, in which she had nothing to say. It is natural not to want the neighbors to do it all, and yet China may be thankful if she never runs up against anything worse than that agreement.

The men at Camp Devens are anxious to go home to spend Thanksgiving and it is probable that many of them will be allowed to do so. But not all. Enough will have to remain to "run" the cantonment while the absentees are chasing the "turks."

The soldiers who have been sent south report that they are pleased with the change of climate, and the time is not far distant when many of us will wish that we could also spend the winter in that latitude.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Where Red Cross Money Goes (From "Glad's Talk of the Day" in the Philadelphia Telegraph.)

There are 3,000,000 members of the American Red Cross. They each gave a dollar for membership. In addition to that the people of the United States gave a cool $100,000,000. What has become of that money? H. P. Davidson, head of the Red Cross work, says that only $1,500,000 of this great sum goes to paying for the expense of administering the Red Cross work.

The other $101,500,000 "goes to the spot." Well, what does the Red Cross do with its money?

It has given $1,000,000 for sick and wounded French soldiers. Established twenty dispensaries in the American army zone.

Distributes supplies to 3123 French military hospitals. Gives surgical supplies to 2000 of the French hospitals.

Operates ten army canteens at the front. Accommodates 30,000 French soldiers daily at six other railway canteens.

Creating an artificial arm and leg factory. Building a movable hospital with 1000 beds.

Established camps for thousands of French refugee children. Caring for 500 French children every day who are sent back to France by the German army.

Built a hospital for such repatriates, who are coming in 1900 a day. Arranging for another 1000 hospital beds at Paris for victims of tuberculosis.

Getting 200 tons of supplies at Paris daily and reshipping 125 tons daily to different parts of France. Uses 400 motor vehicles.

To create a line of autos through Switzerland to carry French and German exchanged prisoners.

Recently in one day, all unknown to our people generally, 1000 American soldiers "leaving through" were fed here at Philadelphia by the Red Cross.

So when you are now asked to help along this new Y. M. C. A. fund, don't dodge behind the query:

"I wonder what the Red Cross is doing with the money I gave it?"

MYTH MAKING IN WAR TIME

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

Mr. Tumulty, private secretary to the President, is alive and well in Washington. Remarkable, not to say creepy! Only the other day he was arrested as a German spy, tried, convicted and shot. Hundreds of perfectly sane Americans believe it.

Kerensky—delicate, puny, and a T. B.—slipped out of Petrograd last week, no one knows where and defied detection when most wanted. Again remarkable! He is Lord Kitchener.

Somewhere American troops have arrived in France without the loss of a man. Wonderful! Outward-bound transports loaded to the gunwales with American troops have been sunk by the half dozen. People tell this with a straight face.

Early in the war a large Russian army took ship at Archangel, landed on British soil and crossed Scotland and England by rail. That army was seen. There are people in England who still believe that it was seen.

Twenty years ago or thereabouts a distinguished theologian brought out a book called "The Gospel of the Age of Doubt." It is now gathering dust on a top shelf, for ours is no longer an age of doubt. It can swallow anything and flunk its chops. It can set going the best flackiest rumors—that Mr. Tumulty had been shot, that Kerensky is Lord Kitchener, that our first line trenches in France are manned by troops already drowned, that the Red Cross is an organization of grafters, humbugs and thieves, that whenever our forces suffer a reverse the war department "concocts it in its cheek like a damask wren." It begins to appear that the age of doubt, if there ever was such a thing, released enormous masses of credulity which are now all seeking investment on the smallest provocation—such as instances, as the arrival of gossip at fourth hand, or one or less in the style of "I seen a man that seen a man that seen—that said he seen the devil." Andrew Lang wrote "Myths and Myth Makers" and devoted the entire volume to the ancients. It was most unjust. When it comes to myth making, antiquity has nothing on modernity.

An Alternative for Trotsky (From the New York World.)

Braunstein of Petrograd, alias Trotsky, says his party affirms "the people's right to peace, free life, the land, bread and power." The Russian people can have all these if it takes them together. If it takes peace first, from German hands it can have none of the others except as its master dictates.

To War, To War! (From the Philadelphia Telegraph.)

Isn't it high time for us and our allies to strike out in new lines and to take the initiative? Are we not too tame in our warfare? Should we not take a leaf from George Washington's military book and treat our foe exactly and always as it treats us?

With four-fifths, yes, nine-tenths of all the inventive genius of the entire world at war with Germany, Germany is still permitted to set the pace in this war and to decide on the manner of battle.

The fact is that Germany is in far greater earnest than the allies. She was really whipped in the first four months of this war and being driven to desperation she has fought with all the weapons of desperation ever since. Germany is fighting made clear through. She was scared by her early and terrible odds into striking in every direction.

Why should we tarry here, all the day idle? It is time for the people of the U. S. to get fighting mad too, and to cast off our kid gloves and put on the iron gloves of Washington, Paul Jones, Jackson, Grant, Lee and Farragut, and go out and win this war without further blundering.

What Canada Has Done (From "Glad's Talk of the Day" in the Philadelphia Telegraph.)

Canada has no more to lose by a German victory than has the United States.

Canada has no more to gain by defeating the Kaiser than have we. What has Canada done to win the war?

From a population half a million smaller than Pennsylvania's Canada has raised 430,000 troops, of which 333,000 have already crossed the sea. The man loss among those sent 'over there' has been 50 per cent.

Canada's war debt exceeds a billion dollars. My authority for these statements is Major M. S. Boehm, of Canada.

When the United States has 5,000,000 men in uniform, 4,000,000 in Europe and a casualty list of 2,000,000, we shall have matched what Canada has already done.

The Battalion of Death (From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Again the women of Russia prove their worth. Months ago when the spy-infested, liberty-mad Russian armies gave way before the Austro-Germans in Galicia, the girls of the battalion of death proved by their sacrifice their devotion to the ideals of the republic. Thursday, when Petrograd mob arose against the Kerensky government, these same girls or those who survived the Galician catastrophe alone stood fast.

The Petrograd garrison went over to the anarchists, the Cossacks refused to fight against the Bolsheviks, and the seamen of the fleet in the Neva mutined. The battalion of death, charged by the old government with the defense of the winter palace, held its own for four hours against the rifle and machine gun fire of the revolutionaries, and only yielded when a warship was brought up the Neva to train its guns against them.

It has long been axiomatic that a nation deserves as well as do its women. The Russian people have far to go before they convince the world that they deserve as well of it as do the members of the fighting battalion.

Fight On, and Watch Stars (From the San Antonio Light.)

Men now understand why they are fighting, but they do not yet comprehend the equally important question, "Why should we have been compelled to fight?"

This is the answer that will be made plain as the years go by. It will be—possibly—many years in its coming and in its passage. All that man may do is to fight on and watch the stars for the message that is sure to come.

And, in this sense, as Lord Northcliffe has said:

"We are only at the beginning of this strange and mysterious thing that is passing over the world."

A Catch Somewhere (From the Portland Press.)

Turkeys, it is said, will be reasonable in price on Thanksgiving, but cranberry sauce takes an awful lot of sugar.

Wants Room to Walk

Editor:

Now that Daniel Street has been cleaned up, I would be glad if you would ask through the columns of your paper, why all that lumber and other material is allowed to remain on the pavement of the electric light plant. In no city are people allowed to keep the sidewalks filled with rubbish of any kind, and it should be removed as it is a nuisance. The public should have the necessary room to walk.

Will Address the Meeting on the Need of the Red Triangle Fund

FULLER GIVES K. OF C. $1000

Congressman Alvan T. Fuller, a prominent Rye Beach resident, who has made a contribution of $1000 to the Y. M. C. A. fund, yesterday donated a like amount to the Knights of Columbus war fund. He sent his contribution to Assistant District Attorney Daniel J. Gallagher, who is in charge of the K. of C. fund in this state.

Mr. Gallagher is state deputy supreme knight of the K. of C., and Thursday he made an appeal for the Y. M. C. A. fund, asking all K. of C. workers to lend their aid in supporting the Red Triangle drive. In receiving Congressman Fuller's donation Mr. Gallagher received the following message:

Cable Station, Rye Beach, N. H. Daniel J. Gallagher, Deputy Supreme Knight, Knights of Columbus:

Please accept my congratulations on the broad-gauged patriotism that leads you, the head of the Knights of Columbus, to make an appeal for the Y. M. C. A. war fund. Rally for you. Please allow me to duplicate my contribution of $1000 to the Y. M. C. A. by one of equal amount to the Knights of Columbus war fund.

ALVAN T. FULLER, Knight, Knights of Columbus.

Hearty thanks for your generous donation of $1000 to K. of C. war fund, duplicating your contribution of equal amount to Y. M. C. A. Fine spirit, United we stand.

DANIEL J. GALLAGHER, State Deputy, K. of C.

THE NEW RED CROSS COLONY is being established to meet the growing demand for refuge on the Belgian soil.

There are several strong reasons for this demand. One is that the Belgian authorities like to hold together what is left of Belgium as much as possible. The wonderful hospitality of the allied countries is appreciated, but the sentiment is strong for the retention of Belgium of as many people as practicable. Another very vital factor is the fact that mothers are reluctant to let their children go so far away that they cannot visit them. To meet all these demands the Red Cross is establishing the colony in the safest place available in free Belgium, where it will be possible for parents to see their children often.

Education will be in the hands of the nuns but numerous advanced ideas suggested by the Red Cross will be included in the curriculum. One thing which has pleased the little Belgians has been the introduction of instrumental games in the various homes.

A short time ago a carload of games was sent to the Belgian asylums in France and beneficial results were noted immediately. The same system will be employed in the new colony.

RENEW WARNINGS AGAINST SPIES

Placards Posted in All Navy Yards and Stations in Country.

Washington, Nov. 17.—Renewed warnings against spies have been posted at all navy yards and stations. Placards headed "Beware of spies" have been posted, reading as follows: "Don't discuss naval affairs or the movement of ships, their cargoes or courses with strangers or foreigners. 'Don't trust anyone you do not know. Enemy spies at home and abroad will try to draw you into arguments and entrap you into telling them about the movement of ships, their cargo, the courses steered and the steps taken to defend our ships. 'Don't forget to report at once any person who tries to get information from you or anyone else in your hearing. 'Don't forget that your want of care may help the enemy and lead to the loss of American ships and the deaths of their crews. 'Secrecy means safety.'"

NAVY NOTES

Men Did Well

The men at the Portsmouth navy yard have contributed most generously for the Red Triangle fund.

Daniels in Boston Sunday

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels today notified Commandant Hugh of the Boston naval district that he would be in Boston Sunday for a conference with Commandant Rush on matters pertaining to this district. The most important matter which Commandant Rush will lay before the secretary will be the halting of strikes of the shipbuilding plant at Squantum, the naval hospital in Chelsea and the storehouses in the navy yard at Charlestown. It is expected that the secretary will extend the visit to Portsmouth on Monday.

Numerous Applicants

The recruiting station at the Portsmouth yard has been visited by numerous young men during the past week who want to make the regular service.

SAP RUNNING IN VT. MAY PROVIDE WAY OUT OF SUGAR SHORTAGE HERE

Battleboro, Vt., Nov. 17.—New maple sugar at this season of the year is a rarity, but George W. Cushman of High Lawn road returned today from his farm in Jamaica with a supply from sap gathered the past few days. Mr. Cushman says that during the recent warm weather the sap has run well and he thinks if farmers would take advantage of the fact they could obtain relief from the present sugar shortage.

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR WAR SAVING CERTIFICATES

Washington, Nov. 17.—Investment in War-Savings Certificates will be as simple as the purchase of postage stamps under a plan announced tonight by Secretary McAdoo for the nation-wide certificate sales campaign which he will inaugurate on Monday, December 3rd, with the assistance of the War-Savings Committee which he has created, consisting of Frank A. Vanderlip, of New York, Chairman; Mrs. Geo. Bass, of Chicago; Frederic Delano, of Chicago; Henry Ford, of Detroit; Eugene Meyer Jr., of New York; and Charles L. Babbie, of Boston.

Any person may invest amounts as small as twenty-five cents at a time at postoffices, banks or trust companies, at most railroad stations, stores and factories and at many other public places where accredited persons will act as authorized selling agents. After the sales begin the certificates may be purchased at any time. At the average 1918 selling price such investments in certificates will yield 4 per cent interest compounded quarterly. The certificates will be dated January 2, 1918, and will mature January 1, 1923, or five years after date. The entire wealth and security of the United States is behind them.

The tax exemption provisions of these certificates, particularly from the standpoint of the purchaser of smaller amounts, makes the investment attractive. No person may purchase at one time more than $100.00 worth or hold at one time more than $1,000.00 worth of these certificates. These obligations of the United States will be evidenced by stamps of two denominations—a War-Savings Stamp costing $4.12 to $4.23 according to the month in which purchased and having a maturity value of $5.00 and a Thrift Stamp costing twenty-five cents. During December, 1917, and January, 1918, War-Savings Stamps will be sold for $4.12 each. At the beginning of each of the succeeding months of 1918, starting February 1, the cost of a stamp will increase one cent per month. All War-Savings stamps issued during 1918 will mature on January 1, 1923, when they will be redeemed at $5.00 each.

The difference between the purchase price paid at any time during 1918, and $5.00, represents the interest the government will pay the holder. With the first War-Savings Stamp bought the purchaser will obtain without expense a War-Savings Certificate containing spaces for twenty such stamps. If the twenty spaces are filled during December, 1917, or January, 1918, the cost to the purchaser will have been $4.12 for each stamp or $82.40 for the filled certificate and on January 1, 1923, the government will redeem the certificate at $100.00, giving the holder a net profit of $17.60 for the use of his money.

Thrift Stamps costing twenty-five cents each are from time to time purchased to be affixed to Thrift Cards, which will be supplied without cost. Thrift Stamps will not bear interest but a Thrift card when filled at a cost of $4.00 may be exchanged for a War-Savings Stamp bearing interest at 4 per cent compounded quarterly merely by turning the card in to the postoffice, bank or other sales agency and paying the difference between $4.00 and the current price of a War-Savings Stamp. The Thrift Stamp feature of the plan will afford an unparalleled opportunity for the small investor to save in order to place his or her money at interest with absolute safety.

This privilege of surrendering a certificate to the Government and receiving the cost thereof plus interest at the rate of about 3 per cent has been provided for the convenience of those who may have bought certificates and later on find themselves in need of their money. It is hoped, however, that this privilege will be exercised only in cases of necessity. Upon ten days' written notice after January 1st next postmasters will pay off certificates at their cost to purchasers plus an increase of one cent a month on each War-Savings Stamp on the Certificate surrendered, as shown by a table of value appearing on the Certificate. Under this plan it will be absolutely impossible for a Certificate or the Stamps thereon to depreciate in value, nor can there ever be any question that it is worth the price shown thereon.

That is the story of the system under which the sale and redemption of War-Savings Certificates will operate. There can be no technicalities to confuse, no change of depreciation in value, nor any operations which any child who can read and count cannot comprehend.

Money derived from war savings investments will be used to meet the expenses of the war. The greater part of these funds will be expended within the borders of the United States.

NAVY KEPT LOSS OF SHIP SECRET

One Victim's Father Makes
Public Loss of the U. S.
Freighter Kansas City.

Washington, Nov. 17.—A reform in handling official reports to the navy department concerning torpedoed or missing ships and naval casualty lists has been recommended as a result of a lax method in connection with information from Vice Admiral Sims at London concerning the loss of the convoyed steamer Kansas City.

The Kansas City sailed from Atlantic port on Aug. 30 last, with other freight transports under naval convoy. She became separated from the other ships at sea on Sept. 5. Since then nothing has been learned as to the fate of the Kansas City, which is believed to have joined the long list of merchant vessels sunk without a trace by German submarines. There was a first class signalman of the United States navy on board the Kansas City, the son of a prominent citizen of Baltimore. This boy, the only representative of the navy on the convoyed steamer, is given up for lost with the steamer.

Officers in the navy department have been aware of these facts. How long they have been in the possession of the department could not be ascertained today. But it was not until today that any announcement was authorized by the government and it came only after the father of the missing navy man on the Kansas City forced the hand of the government by laying his case before the newspapers of Baltimore. Even then the only announcement authorized by the department contained less information than the father had given last night to the Baltimore newspapers. Here is the official announcement as issued by the committee on public information shortly after noon today when it had been ferreted out of the navy department by representatives of that bureau on the basis of the information from the Baltimore newspapers:

"The navy department has received no information on the steamer Kansas City since she was reported separated from convoy Sept. 5. She is now believed to have been lost at sea. J. H. A. Muir, first-class signalman, assigned to duty on the Kansas City, was the only navy man on board. His next of kin is his father, John Allison Muir, 26 Mary Mount road, Roland Park, Md."

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—J. Allison Muir, Jr., the Maryland naval midshipman, who was lost with the freighter Kansas City, was the sixth member of his family to die in the present war. Norman R. M. Muir, son of his father's sister, who enlisted in the 61st Canadian Infantry, was killed at Ypres in 1916. Since that time four cousins have been killed in France. Capt. MacDonald Harling of Canada, uncle of Muir, was invalided home a year ago after being gassed. He is again on active duty, with the British forces in Egypt. Two of the family lost their lives in the Boer war.

BOYS GET REWARD FOR GOOD WORK

The boys' campaign for the Red Triangle closed Friday evening and as a result of the boys' good work, Mr. Curtis Matthews, chairman of the boys' work, has arranged a trip to Boston and Camp Devens for them. They will first go to Boston by auto and take in the relay race from Arlington to the state house. This is a race of the boys of the New England states, ten boys being chosen from each state to run the relay. From this city, Lawrence Leavitt will be on the state team which will leave Manchester this morning for Boston.

The local boys will leave here in Mr. Albert Hisslop's automobile this morning and after seeing the race they will take dinner at the Boston Y. M. C. A. They will then come home by the way of Camp Devens.

The boys who will make the trip will be John Seybold, Henry Margeison, Roscoe Foust, Wallace deRoche-mont, George Parsons.

MORE CLEVER VAUDEVILLE FOR THE COLONIAL

Manager Greeley says there will be one of the most pleasing and snappy vaudeville shows yet, for the Colonial on Monday.

The College Quintette, a company of five clever young people, four boys and a girl with piano, songs and comedy; an act that is up to the minute with modern sayings in comedy and balm full of pep.

Kitty Flynn, the best single girl entertainer in vaudeville, is the way she is rated. Miss Flynn is a comedy girl, a rare thing in vaudeville outside of the big city houses, but nothing is too good for the Colonial and Kitty will be there to hand us a few laughs.

The "Divine" sensational dance team—famed because of the fact that Uncle Sam engaged them to teach the soldiers foot work and exercises to prevent flat feet.

The DuVeas perform some wonderful stunts in dancing and foot balancing, having the reputation of dancing on the cornice roof of the Flat Iron building in New York, in view of thousands of spectators. Photographs of this feat and others are shown in the frames at the Colonial theatre.

The pictures will include some cartoons. There is Wallace Reid and Myrtle Steidman in the five reel Paramount, entitled, "The World Apart." Then there is a brand new comedy of the O'Henry series, well put together stories in modern ways by that clever writer.

The Pathe News will be featured as usual with Prof. Holmes' Concert Orchestra—No better music in the state.

The management calls attention to the fact that there are fifteen cent seats in the orchestra at night, three hundred of them, besides the reserved section at 25c.

ASSAILS MODERN MOVING PICTURES

New Hampshire College, Durham, Nov. 17.—The motion picture, as it is managed today has lowered the physical, mental and moral tone of the people. This is the conclusion reached by Dorothy Hanson of New Hampshire college, whose thesis on the Social Significance of the Motion Picture, awarded the Lillian Edwards prize has just been published by the department of sociology.

Miss Hanson says that she took up the subject of the moving picture as a social factor quite prejudiced in its favor, but has been forced to alter her views.

She considered the subject under three heads—physical, mental and moral. The motion picture theatres, she finds as a rule are poorly ventilated, sometimes in danger from fire, often assist in spreading tuberculosis, and the picture itself causes eyestrain. The common practice of flashing written letters and printed matter on and off the screen is especially hard on the eyes.

Considering the motion picture from the mental point of view, she declares that the movie has no intellectual value in that it stimulates the mind and there is little of educational value in the moving picture as a rule. Where good literature is pictured or historical scenes produced they are usually viciously altered and the spectators get a distorted idea of the subject. Many times poor English is used in the explanatory slides. More than one-fifth of our entire population are patrons of the movies every day. This means that at ten cents an admission the nation spends about $2,000,000 a day in the motion picture theatre. They are making, the taste of the millions; unfortunately they are making bad, pernicious taste—because it is based wholly on sensation and is to that extent entirely animalistic.

Over and over boys who are brought before the juvenile court for committing robberies, running away and other misdemeanors admit they got their inspiration from the movies. Again and again in the daily papers there are stories of crime that can easily be traced to this source.

Because of the exaggerated viewpoint, the motion picture gives the wrong conception of life, causing the "movie fans" to become easily bored and indifferent to anything but rank sensationalism. This effect is intensified in the sub-normal individual who cannot put cause and effect together. In a word, the cinematograph plays are the weakest and most illogical prejudices of the less thinking classes.

Taking their viewpoints from the standards set up in motion pictures, the alien is often given a totally wrong impression of American life. As a rule, the version presented to him is false in fact, sickly in sentiment and utterly foreign to the ideals of our nation.

Fully as bad as the effect of the pictures themselves is the fact that young people of both sexes attend their unchaperoned and unprotected; sit in the darkened room, hear indecent stories and jokes; see together questionable pictures, many of them love scenes; are free to flirt as much as they please; and are open to all sorts of immoral influences. At the present time, as far as young people can be vulgarized by the eye, American youth are in the process of vulgarization.

MASONIC HONORS AT BURIAL OF
C. E. TASKER, NEWMARKET

Newmarket, Nov. 17.—The funeral of Ex-Representative Charles E. Tasker was held from his late home on Exeter street at 2.15 yesterday afternoon. Rev. William Ramsden of the Congregational church officiated. Burial in Riverside Cemetery was with Masonic honors. The pallbearers were: Hon. Charles H. Foss, Hon. Clarence I. Hurd, Aaron W. Hayes and Josiah P. Jenness, all of Dover, representing St. Paul Commandery, Knights Templar; Elmer J. Young and Hon. Channing Folson, representing Rising Star Lodge of Masons, and Stephen H. Davis and Andrew J. Watterson of the Congregational church.

There is considerable rivalry among the teams in the Red Triangle drive to keep from being the low team in sum of money collected. The fact that one team secured two of the big donations put it so far ahead that all interest in being the liner was out of the question.

GERMAN NAVAL OFFICERS CARRY ARMS AT ALL TIMES

London, Nov. 11.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Captains of the German submarines are compelled constantly to carry their revolvers and to disarm the members of their crews to prevent mutiny and voluntary surrender to their enemies, according to an Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express. He quotes a man who claims to know the conditions of the German submarine service as saying:

"For the last two months the U-boats have been putting to sea under very peculiar conditions. The commander and his second start heavily armed. The men, on the other hand, are searched for weapons before every embarkation. From some of the vessels all the rifles and other small arm ammunition have been removed. In some cases rifles are on board but they are kept securely locked in their racks and the key remains in the commander's pocket."

"The reason for all these drastic precautions is to be found in the spirit of the men at present serving Germany beneath the waves."

"I will give you the psychological experience of the German submarine sailor. After his course of special training for the work he makes his first trip. His vessel has one or two narrow escapes from disaster but returns safely to her base. The sailor goes ashore for his short leave, spends his pay and enjoys himself. Then he makes a second trip and again returns after escaping death by inches."

"Gradually it dawns on him that luck of this kind cannot hold out forever and that eventually his fate is certain. From the moment that this realization forces itself upon him his duty becomes a veritable nightmare. He sets sail on each new cruise with the conviction that it will be his last. In the language of the English soldier he is perpetually 'going over the top' and his period of survival is much more lengthy and nerve-racking than that of the land fighter."

"The effect on his mind is easily to be understood. He begins to cast about him for some means of escape from this branch of the 'service' but he quickly realizes that his only chance of escape is that of capture and imprisonment, either by an enemy or neutral power. It is this longing for capture which sends him to sea, helpless and unarmed while his officers bristle with the means of enforcing obedience and discipline."

"Every U-boat commander now has to face an added danger—that of his own men, who may seize the first opportunity of taking control of his vessel and delivering it to the enemy in exchange for their own lives."

WM. HODGE

In His Latest Comedy Drama Success
"A CURE FOR CURABLES"
At the Majestic Theatre, Boston
Next Week.

Amerlen's foremost portrayal of American character, the indomitable William Hodge, will appear at the Majestic theatre, Boston, next week, beginning Monday, November 19, in a new play. This time Mr. Hodge will have as his vehicle, a four act comedy drama. It has the unique title of "A Cure for Curables." Mr. Hodge always conjures with the names of his plays, and this one is the latest, and perhaps the most remarkable.

Mr. Hodge will appear in an entirely new role this season in this play. He will portray the character of James Pendergrass, a young Kentucky physician, who suddenly falls heir to his Uncle's sanitarium. It is the type of a young, virile, resourceful American. It is a long swing from his earlier characterization, but is an up-to-the-minute American just the same. The part of a physician, gives versatile Mr. Hodge a playground for his work that is quite refreshing. It is filled with quaint humor and yet there is the opportunity that comes to all physicians, for sympathy, pathos and understanding.

The story is exceptionally unusual. Interwoven in its many angles of interest is a love story, sweet, sensible and calculated to delight all who witness it.

Mr. Hodge as Dr. Pendergrass, is a Virginian. His uncle, who also is a physician, bequeaths him a sanitarium in Kentucky, but there is a restriction attached that later on creates endless excitement. The Uncle stipulates that ten patients must be cured within thirty days; else the place will revert to an old favorite employee.

(By Associated Press)
In Petrograd the Bolsheviks are in control of the greater part of the city with fighting going on in the streets. At Kiev the Cossacks and the naval cadets have secured control, while Moscow is partly in control of both the provisional government and the Bolsheviks. The casualties so far reported range from 700 to 2000.

On the Italian front intense fighting is going on along the entire line which the Italians are defending stubbornly from Lake Garda to the Adriatic.

Along the Poire a furious artillery action is taking place, both the Italians and the Austro-German forces having now brought up the most of their artillery and there are many of the heavy guns in action.

Near the mouth of the Piave river in the triangle between the Piave and the Pile rivers, the dykes have been opened and the entire river which is known as the "Holland" of Italy, is now under water. It is thought that the Austro-German forces that have crossed the Piave river have been caught in the great rush of water.

The British in Palestine still continue to be active and upwards of 9000 Turkish prisoners have been taken.

A new French cabinet under the leadership of M. Clemenceau has been formed and he is now the minister of war. He is one of the strong men of France and his government will be very aggressive.

TWO DRAFTS NEXT YEAR

Washington, Nov. 16.—One million Nationals, in addition to the 637,000 already drafted, will be in the military service before next fall, if a report current in Washington today is accurate. The report, which is voiced by army officers, is to the effect that the men called out by the second draft will be used "to fill holes in the first draft," and that the second draft will be followed within a short time by a third draft. Actual confirmation of the report can come only from President Wilson himself, but with army officers themselves discussing the subject, it is believed the report has some basis of fact, unless they are outlining what they would do if they were in command of the armies of America.

It can be said authoritatively, however, that larger "holes" will be found in the first National Army when all of the 637,000 have been assembled. The reason for this is that scores of thousands of Nationals in addition to the 137,000 drafted men called out to fill vacancies in the National Guard and Regular Army have been used or will be used to organize technical and staff companies. The voluntary censorship rules forbid the publication of actual figures, but it is permissible to say that the line of the National Army will be much smaller than the general public believes. "When all of the special units have been formed the first National Army will be considerably under 500,000 men," said one high officer today.

The best guess of military officers is that the President will issue the third call in time to send some of the men to the cantonments between March 1 and April 1. Other officers say that

NO TIME WASTED

Prompt Action in Pleasing Many Portsmouth Citizens.

Got down to the cause of everything.

Bad Backs are frequently caused by weak kidneys.

Help the kidneys to get rid of kidney backache.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only.

No time wasted trying to cure other troubles.

Portsmouth people endorse their merit.

H. B. Spinney, 41 Pickering St., Portsmouth, says: "On account of the heavy work I do, my back occasionally gave me trouble. Dull, grinding pains took me across my back and bore down on me like a great weight. At times, it was hard for me to work as I have to bend and lift continually. I was finally told of Doan's Kidney Pills and since then, this medicine has never failed to put my back in good shape. I always keep them on hand in case of necessity."

the call may come much earlier than this and that men will be sent to the cantonments in increments of fifty thousand. These men, they say, will be used to fill the holes in the first draft Army.

Room for New Men Next Spring. It would appear to be impossible, however, to send additional drafted men to the cantonments before early next year. There are many thousand men in the first draft who have not been assembled as yet. It will be impossible for a few months to assemble the second-draft men. However, by the time spring arrives it will be very easy to take care of hundreds of thousands of additional men. Then the first drafted men will be going to France, spending quarters for newly drafted men at the cantonments they vacate.

Staff officers realize that the men at the northern cantonments, Camp Devens for example, will face hardships this winter. Indeed, it is understood here that General Hodges has urged the immediate sending of furs and immunization to Camp Devens, contending that the men will get little, if any, fire practice unless increased supplies of furs and immunization are rushed to the Army. Conditions are practically the same at all of the northern cantonments. High officers declare a mistake was made in building cantonments in the north. If transports were available, some of these officers would recommend the immediate send in of drafted men at Northern cantonments to France. As it is, it is possible that this will be done to a limited extent.

IRISH FISHERMEN HAVING LUCK

Base American flotillas in British Waters, Oct. 30 (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Irish fishermen along the coasts where the U-boats operate have made some remarkable catches during the past year. The story of the fishermen who found a $15,000 box of diamonds from the Lusitania in his nets one day, and whose honesty in returning them to their rightful owners was rewarded by a check for $1000 is well known. There is another fisherman who came home from a fishing expedition with a new American automobile lashed to the deck of his little trawler. There are hundreds of fishermen who have made modest fortunes out of salvage of one kind or another. Wheat, flour and coal salvage are all profitable business in the coast towns nowadays.

The story of the man who came home from the sea with a brand new automobile is a household favorite in the fish ports. Accompanied by his son he was mackerel fishing when he was aroused by the report of an explosion. On the horizon a cargo steamer from America was settling by the stern. It has been torpedoed. The fisherman headed for it and soon met the captain and crew in two open boats. "She's loaded with American automobiles; you might get one before she goes under," said the skipper jokingly as he and his shipmates passed on toward shore.

The torpedoed ship was still well above water when the fisherman came alongside. He at once sent his son or board to look around. The latter found the hold full of automobiles. "Run one out through this gangway," directed the father. With the aid of some tackle the machine was dropped into the fishing vessel. A few moments later as the trawler steamed away the ship disappeared. The fisherman with an automobile is now the envy of his village.

Many torpedoed vessels manage to reach shore, where they are usually pounded to pieces on the rocks. But before the cargo is lost forever people come from miles around to salvage it. Anything that will float is used, and everyone helps himself. Men, women and children attack cargo and ship, removing brass fittings and anything else of value. Four and canned meats, fruits and vegetables form the larger portion of the salvaged articles.

One village has had the good fortune to have a couple of food ships bring up on its very doorstep. Most of the ships, of course, go down at sea. But this does not dishearten the alert fishermen, who have been known to transfer several hundred sacks of the best American flour from a vessel while it is sinking many miles from land. If the explosion tears a big enough hole in the victim much of the cargo will become loosened and wash ashore, where it is quickly spied by the watchful eyes of the natives.

Salvage companies also are very active and are making huge profits. Some have transferred their whole staffs in this coast. Their agents can bid on a wheat cargo without seeing it and can tell just how far into a sack of flour the water will have penetrated in a given period.

GERMANY BUILDING BIGGER U-BOATS

London, Nov. 16.—The lowest record of submarine destruction for any week since German ruthlessness began on the ocean brings forth an explanation likely to cause the utmost concern to the United States. It is said that the British measures of fighting the submarines in the narrow and shallow waters of the British Isles has been so perfected that Germany is preparing to adopt new tactics.

Anticipating the present situation, the Germans sometime ago began constructing an unknown number of giant submarines of about 3,000 tons capable of 25 knots on the surface, carrying several four and six-inch guns and able to cruise thousands of miles and to remain at sea for two or three months. It is intended to send these new U-boats on long distance cruises.

The new submarines will avoid the British waters and necessitate entirely new methods of fighting them because they will have ample sea room and will avoid the shallow waters of the British Isles. Such craft will be almost immune to the methods heretofore successful in combatting the smaller U-boats. On the other hand, the newer and bigger submarines will be slower in submerging and maneuvering and will offer a bigger target in encounters at sea. They will also have greater difficulty in gaining the open sea from the German bases.

It is positively declared that several of these new crafts are nearing completion and a new style of submarine warfare is expected to be inaugurated shortly in a spectacular mid-ocean attack on shipping from America. Possible efforts to operate on the western side of the Atlantic following the example of the U-63 in the waters of Nantucket.

LITERARY NOTES

December Cosmopolitan.
December Cosmopolitan, now on sale, will prove a mental stimulus to those who love good literature. Articles, serials and short stories by the world's foremost writers, illustrated by the most brilliant artists of our time—are not only interesting and entertaining, but highly inspirational as well.
Fanny Hurst, with her characteristic skill, has woven a beautiful tale of true and unselfish love in "On the Heights," "The Other Lobster," the first installment of a two-part story by Gouverneur Morris, is written in the customary fascinating manner of this versatile writer, and Edith Macvane offers a problem for deep and serious discussion in "For She Loved Much." There is another enchanting Henry the Ninth story, by Samuel Merwin, entitled "The Stimulant," and "In Came a Fat Man," by George Randolph Chester, the 101st story written around the characters of Wallingford and Blackie Daw.

Rex Beach reveals himself in the new light of a humorist in "On the Trail of the Cowardly Cougar," which relates his and Fred Stone's experiences when they went mountain-hon hunting in the wilds of Northern Arizona.
Then, of course, the three vastly interesting and absorbing serials are continued—Owen Johnson's "Virtuous Wives," "Camilla," by Elizabeth Robbins and "The Restless Sex," by Robert W. Chambers.

One way to relieve habitual constipation is to take regularly a mild laxative. Donn's Regulants are recommended for this purpose. 30c a box at all drug stores.

PREPARING FOR ANOTHER RETREAT

With the British Armies in Flanders Nov. 16—German newspapers found on recently captured prisoners show that the Kaiser's government is preparing the public for another "strategic retreat" on the west front. Captured German officers admit the German high command entertains the fear that a "retirement for a distance of several miles" may be necessary by recent British advances.

Data now in possession of the British staff show that Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria in two months exhausted 91 German divisions, nearly 1,365,000 men, in defending—vainly—the Nasseledde ridge, and in the fruitless counter attacks.

In a similar period of about two months, the Germans during the battle of the Somme used 88 divisions, 1,200,000 men.

The inspired articles in the German newspapers preparing the public mind for retirement on the west front show the German's staff realization that its main power is waning.

MURDERED BECAUSE THEY BOUGHT BONDS

(By Associated Press)
Virginia Minn., Nov. 16.—Three Austrians were murdered here last night, the police say because they bought Liberty Bonds and subscribed to the Red Cross. They were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alar and their boarder, Peter Treplack. The skulls of all three were crushed with an axe as they lay on their beds. On the kitchen table was left a note in the Austrian language which said:
"You have bought Liberty Bonds and given money to the Red Cross and said that the Kaiser could go to hell. Don't look for us if you do you will get the same."

Subject—"COMPANIONS OF THE KING"
A Service with the Boy Scouts.

NEARLY $1500 PLEDGED FOR ARMENIAN RELIEF

At a slimly attended meeting at the North church last evening, Rev. M. G. Papazian gave an interesting account of the historical relation of the Armenian race to the religious and political conditions in the near east, and laid the ultimate responsibility for the recent massacres and deportations to the ruling forces at Berlin. He illustrated the result of the cruelty by telling the community which we once served in Aitab. It was made up of a church with a membership of 900, with congregations of 1500, with a Sunday school of 1600 members, with organized day schools and an out-reaching missionary work. This community has entirely disappeared.

There are now some 2,000,000 destitute survivors of the Armenian people including 400,000 children who are the hope of the race. Only the abundant help of compassionate people can save them from starvation.

The local committee for Armenian relief has made previous substantial contributions. At the meeting last night individual gifts were reported of $1000, $200, $10, $2, $1, and a miscellaneous offering in cash and pledges of $153.76, making a total of $1,471.76 toward the $3500 which the central committee in New York would like from this city.

Pledges and gifts of money may be left with the local treasurer, John M. McPhee, at the First National bank, every cent of the expenses locally and of the central committee, is provided for privately, and all money given goes for relief. There must be many people in the city who will want to contribute to this object.

WOMEN BESIEGE LABOR OFFICE AT THE NAVY YARD

Married and Single Women
Keep Clerks Working Overtime on Applications.

The clerks and everybody else connected with the labor employment office at the navy yard have seen some busy periods, but the rush of women and girls for jobs in the electrical department since it was known that female help would be required has broken the record.

On Friday about 150 women called at the office and 50 or more applications were filled out and placed on file during the regular hours. The board was obliged to work at night to keep up with the rush and are likely to put in a good part of Sunday on the work. The large number of applicants is not confined to young, single girls, but several married women are among the seekers for government work.

The question of a working shop for the women is giving some concern. The younger people say they don't care what the rig is as long as they get the jobs and the money; others would be shy on the overalls and jumper outfit. However, this is not the question at present, and if necessary will be settled later.

Today promises to bring another rush and it looks as if the supply will greatly exceed the demand.

The first call is likely to be made next week.

aunt, Mrs. Mram B. Merrifield, 87 Hill street, by Rev. William P. Stanley of the Middle street Baptist church. The groom was attended by his brother, also of the U. S. S. Montana, and the bride by her aunt.

BODY NOT RECOVERED

All efforts to find the body of Robert Churchill, Jr., who was drowned off the Appledore wharf on Thursday evening, were unsuccessful on Friday.

Superintendent Sands of the Coast Guard district as soon as he heard of the accident, ordered the crews of the Wood Island station under Captain Hall and the Isles of Shoals station, under Captain Ricker to make search of the water about the dock.

The put in the greater part of the day with grappling irons but failed to find the body.

In the afternoon the services of a diver, Joseph E. Turner, of Baltimore, were secured and he made a search of the water about the dock and under the dock. He was attended by Marshal Hurley, a diver himself, and they labored until dark.

The will resume their efforts tomorrow, taking the upper side of the dock toward the Consolidation Coal Co.'s wharf.

Mr. Turner is a diver with a national reputation for depth. He was on the wreck of the Spanish steamship Zulia, in 1908 off the Virginia Capes and was so badly injured there, that today he wears a nose almost entirely of silver.
